MP slams Education Secretary for 'trying to turn borough's underperforming schools into academies'

by David Simister

WEST Lancashire's MP has criticised calls by Education Secretary Michael Gove to turn underperforming schools across the borough into academies.

Mr Gove wrote to Lancashire County Council last week to say that standards at many primary schools across the county were not good enough, and suggested they should be turned into academies, but his comments have come under fire from both the leader of Lancashire County Council and Rosie Cooper.

In the letter Mr Gove calls for the county council to take "a more constructive position" regarding academies, and writes: "There is a wealth of evidence both from pupil performance and independent reports that shows the Academy model is working. Unfortunately, this transformative drive has not taken root in Lancashire, where too many schools continue to underperform. One of the main barriers to progress has been the position of the council, which has failed actively to pursue Academy solutions for its underperforming schools. It has not encouraged its stronger schools to convert and take on a sponsor role, indeed Lancashire has one of the lowest conversion rates in the country, with only 3% of schools converting against a national average of 9%.

Education Secretary Michael Gove

"I want this to be the start of a more productive phase. Officials share my impatience with progress and feel it essential that officers within the authority work with us. I look forward to hearing about greater progress being made in Lancashire and about the collaborative efforts to bring this about. This is what pupils in Lancashire deserve, and what their parents are entitled to expect."

However, his letter has met with an angry response from Lancashire County Council – the local authority responsible for education across West Lancashire.

Former Comet worker slams store bosses

'We were treated like dogs' fumes John

Report by Henry James

A FORMER worker of the Comet Distribution Centre in Skelmersdale, who was one of the 66 people to be made redundant at the site, has spoken of his fury after they were given no notice of the job losses.

John Taylor, 40, who grew up in Burscough and now lives in Chorley, had worked for the company's home delivery service for nearly seven years and has now been left with no job just weeks before Christmas.

The former employees of the failing retailer first heard that their jobs were going in a national newspaper.

Then they were called in for a meeting on Monday, November 19, and a message from the administrators (Deloitte), of the redundancies was read out.

John said: "It felt like a bombshell when we heard about the job losses.

"We were given no notice, no notice payment, and if we want redundancy payment we have to claim it off the government. We feel that we have been treated like dogs, and left high and dry."

John believes they should have been given notice of the redundancy, and added: "If we had had three months notice, I could have prepared, and put wages aside.

"After all the loyalty I have shown to the company, I feel like just a number. I also have a mortgage to pay, and children to provide for."

John also is shocked at the decision as he said he had been busy this year, and commented: "We had been told that there was plenty of work to see us through to December. I had been taking stock from the centre to customer's homes, and then installing it.

"In the last three months I had been working four hours on and four hours off. I had been working 14 to 15 hours a day, and it is meant to be 12. I was making a lot of drops, and I must have been working over the working time directive. It was ridiculous. The centre was very busy as well. So I can't understand the job losses." Now, John doesn't know what the future holds and he added: "Dixons is offering jobs at its centre at the other side of Manchester, but I think it would be difficult to travel there every morning. I would have to leave home very early, and I'm not prepared to do that."

John Taylor with his letter from Comet administrators. Code1055017

West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper commented: "Coming so close to Christmas this is a very difficult and stressful time for all the workers and their families.

"ACAS have advised me that employees should submit a grievance letter to Comet if they believe they have not conducted the consultation correctly, been given the right notice or believe they haven't dealt with the redundancies in the right manner. If there is no response from the company administrators within 21 days then the workers have the right to make an application for an Employment Tribunal to hear the case.

"What the workers need from the company administrators right now is good clear communication on where they stand. To this end I have written to the administrators to raise the workers' concerns and seek answers to their questions."

‘Bully boy tactics’ slammed

Leader Councillor Geoff Driver called some of the Education Secretary’s claims “incredulous”.

Cllr Driver responded: “Of course, I understand your frustrations that relatively few schools in Lancashire are seeking academy status but you should ask yourself why that is so. You flatter me if you think it is simply because I and the county council’s officers do not constantly press schools to become academies. The fact of the matter is it is for no other reason than they do not share your view that seeking academy status would necessarily improve the education attainment of our children in every school.

I note your wish for more cooperation between the county council’s officers and your officials, but sadly, that is not going to happen unless your officials adopt a far more more concillatory and constructive approach and become far less confrontational. I am singularly unimpressed by these bully boy tactics and I would be really interested to know what you think you have achieved by this latest action and how you think it will improve the education and life chances of Lancashire’s children and young people.”

Rosie Cooper, West Lancashire’s MP, said she had seen for herself the hard work going on at the borough’s schools, and accused the Education Secretary of behaving “like a bully” in his efforts to persuade more of them to become academies.

“It seems as if Michael Gove believes that if he keeps telling people Lancashire schools are failing often enough and long enough then everyone will believe him. Sadly, I believe his comments reflect his ideological view on education rather than what is in the best interests of our school children.

“When Conservative–controlled Lancashire County Council are attacking a Conservative Education Secretary you have to wonder what is going on.”

DIY store could become a pub

ONE of Britain’s biggest bar chains is brewing up plans to open a new pub in Ormskirk, it has been revealed this week.

JD Wetherspoon has submitted proposals to the borough council’s planning department to open a new pub at the Best For DIY store, on Wheatsheaf Walk.

The firm said in a design and access statement submitted to the borough council: “At present, Ormskirk Town Centre functions as the primary retail centre for West Lancashire although, hierarchically, Skelmersdale is the highest order centre and it will be greatly enhanced once the town centre strategic development site has been developed.

“The development of a Public House within the town centre will enhance trade and increase employment.”

It is planned that the DIY store will be turned into a two–storey pub, with modifications to the first floor to create a beer garden for customers, and the firm added that it believed the development and the investment into the area would “greatly enhance” the area.

Wharf is set to light up for Christmas

BURSCOUGH residents are being invited to get into the festive spirit this Friday (November 30) when the Wharf’s Christmas lights are switched on.

The mayor and mayoress will pay a visit to the shopping and leisure complex to flick on the lights as part of a series of special events taking place there that evening. At 7.15pm the lights will be turned on by Councillor Paul Greenall and his wife Louise, the borough’s mayor and mayoress.

The site will also host festively themed events every Saturday and Sunday in the run–up to Christmas, in a further bid to bring the Yuletide feeling to Burscough.

For more information about the Christmas events at the Burscough Wharf, call Ray Eckersley on 01695 576844.

Plan to turn water tower into flats

by David Simister

PLANS have been submitted to transform an 150–year–old water tower in the heart of Ormskirk into apartments.

Proposals submitted to the borough council’s planning department envisage turning the water tower, on Pinfold Road, into residential accomodation, with the building retaining its unusual appearance on the outside but being used to contain two apartments.

A design and access statement submitted by the applicants, CJ Developments, said: “The water tower is not a listed building nor is it located in an area designated of any special environmental or historical importance or significance. Nevertheless it is accepted that the tower is of architectural merit and the approach taken to the proposed changes is consistent with those often adopted when converting listed buildings.

“It is considered that the proposed amendments will enhance and preserve the character of the water tower. The design of the scheme and the rationalisation of the internal accommodation would provide a sustainable use of the site that will not compromise the integrity of the water tower or the design concept of the nearby Persimmon residential development.”

The water tower

Permission to turn the water tower into a residential building was originally granted back in 2005 as part of a wider planning application to create a large housing development adjacent to Ormskirk Hospital. Further planning permission to turn the water tower into a residential building was granted by the borough council in 2009.

The building was originally constructed in 1860 to provide drinking water for the Ormskirk Poor Law Workhouse, which became Ormskirk Hospital in the 1950s.

The application will be considered by planners later this year.

West Lancashire MP slams police cuts in Parliament

Report by David Simister

WEST Lancashire's MP has criticised policing cutbacks which have left parts of the borough covered by just three officers at night.

Rosie Cooper said in a questions session at the House of Commons on Monday (November 19) that Government–instigated cutbacks at Lancashire Constabulary, had left it under–resourced, and criticised the investment in the election of Police and Crime Commissioners instead of front–line officers.

She said in the Commons: "At 32 square miles, Scarisbrick in my constituency is the largest parish in Lancashire.

"The village now shares its one police constable and two police community support officers with neighbouring Burscough, following the £42 million–worth of cuts to Lancashire's police budget.

"At night, three police officers cover 50 square miles from Ormskirk to Skelmersdale, which are vast areas for the police to cover.

"How can the Home Secretary justify to my constituents that the £100 million spent on the police and crime commissioner elections, with a turnout of just 15% in Lancashire, is an effective use of scarce resources when we are losing front–line officers?"

Damian Green, the minister of state for Policing and Criminal Justice, responded by telling Ms Cooper that while he could not account for the decisions of Lancashire's chief constable, he did point out that crime across Lancashire had fallen.

The Conservative minister said: "Obviously, it is not for me to comment on the individual operational judgments of the chief constable of Lancashire, but I am happy to be able to tell the hon. Lady and the House that, despite the constraints that she has mentioned, recorded crime in Lancashire between June 2011 and June 2012 went down by 2%.

"I hope that not just her constituents, but others in Lancashire are reassured that the police there are doing an extremely good job of cutting crime and keeping the streets safer."

Award for woman who set up women's refuge centre

Report by David Simister

A WEST Lancashire woman who used her experiences of domestic violence to set up a charity to help hundreds of others in a similar position has won a national award for her 25 years of work.

Eleanor Maddocks, who set up West Lancashire Women's Refuge in 1987 after being shocked at the support offered to victims of domestic violence, was presented with the Grass Roots Hero award at the Empowering Women 2012 Awards, held in London last Wednesday night (November 22).

She said this week: "I'm overwhelmed to have won this award and thrilled to be able to attend this special ceremony, among such inspirational characters.

"I'm extremely passionate about raising awareness of domestic violence and it's fantastic that these brilliant awards bring people together to do exactly that."

Alesha Dixon with Eleanor Maddocks at the awards.

Judges praised her "sheer determination and passion" over the past 25 years, with her efforts including setting up and maintaining the West Lancashire Domestic Violence Forum, achieving 24–hour service, launching the 24–hour Domestic Violence Helpline and setting up an outreach service. They added that Eleanor's ongoing inspiration "comes from seeing women starting to rebuild their lives, confidence and self–esteem".

She was presented with her award by Avon's Beauty and Empowerment Ambassador, pop star Alesha Dixon, at a star–studded ceremony at the Claridges Hotel.

She said: "These awards are a fantastic opportunity to celebrate the courage and achievements of those who stand up and speak out against domestic violence.

"I am privileged to be a part of this special evening which breaks the taboo surrounding the silence of domestic violence."

Employers face up to challenges

by Henry James

SHADOW Employment minister, Stephen Timms MP has discussed employment challenges with the borough's employers and training providers.

A roundtable discussion was called by West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper at New Church House in Ormskirk on Friday, November 16 for organisations from manufacturing, legal services, education and social enterprise to make their views known on issues such as: apprenticeships, training, access to the job market, and the Government's Work Programme.

The MP was joined by representatives from Cleanbake, UBH International, Scott Rees & Co., West Lancashire College and West Lancashire Community Recycling.

Shadow Employment minister Stephen Timms MP said: "It is clear from speaking to local businesses, social enterprises and training providers there is a real desire and ambition to grow.

"There is an enthusiasm to want to develop their businesses, offer solutions to the challenges of youth unemployment and provide job opportunities for older people still needing and wanting to work."

MP Rosie Cooper added: "We all know these are tough times economically. There is a great deal of instability and uncertainty for those looking for jobs and even those with jobs, wondering if the company will stay open.

"We have some fantastic companies here in West Lancashire that offer high quality products and who are at the forefront of their industries.

"We must support these companies to ensure they thrive and continue to provide job opportunities locally. In order to do so it is important that people looking for a job have the right skills and experience.

"While there is a lot of focus on building the city economies of London, Liverpool and Manchester, we cannot ignore places like West Lancashire. There is a lot of good work happening here and it needs to be encouraged and nurtured just as much as our cities."

Rudolph is on the run... for charity

Teams from the emergency services who took part in Sunday s Rudolph Run 2012 at Sporting Edge. Code1054980

DOZENS of runners helped to raise hundreds of pounds for charity at a festively–themed fundraising event in Ormskirk last weekend.

The Rudolph Run, held last Sunday (November 25), saw scores of contestants don Christmas–themed fancy dress costumes for the event at Edge Hill's Sporting Edge athletics facility on St Helens Road, with the Lancashire Defibrillator Campaign, West Lancashire's scout groups among the North West Air Ambulance among the charities which benefited.

Sue Murrin–Bailey, one of the event's organisers, said: "It went really well, and although the weather on Sunday morning might have put a few people off we still had more than 140 runners taking part on the day, helping to raise a lot of money for a number of good causes.

"One of the highlights for me was seeing members of all the emergency services, with the exception of the air ambulance, in uniform with all of their vehicles, for a special race. It helped to show just how important their role is, and how they work together. I think everyone who took part in the day not only raised a lot of money, but had a lot of fun too."

Among the highlights of the event was a special race which saw representatives from different branches of the emergency services taking part, with the police first on the scene to rescue a collapsed reindeer at the finish line.

Phil Jones, Fire Station Manager for Ormskirk and Skelmersdale, said: "Today was a bit of competitive fun with our front line emergency service partners. It also reflected our inter agency approach to emergency incidents and emphasised in a fun way, the vital requirement for a defibrillator at the scene of an emergency".

A number of runners also took part to raise money for their own charities on the day, helping to boost the amount generated for good causes.

Edward McCarthy, who took part to help raise funds for West Lancs Positive Living, said: "The Reindeer Run was really good fun, we have took part over the last few years and raised funds for good causes in West Lancashire but also highlighted the work that the various charities, including ourselves do." Plans are underway for another event next year.

Pitch project is underway

WORK is underway on laying 'high quality' all–weather pitches at Edge Hill University as the first phase of a £15 million project to build new sports facilities nears completion.

Part of the "state–of–the–art complex" will be completed in time for Christmas for students, staff and the community to enjoy.

The all–weather sports facilities together with additional grassing on the land beyond the University's leisure centre are costing £9m and will include 3D surfaces, multi–courts, hockey and football pitches. The site will also benefit from floodlighting.

Vice–chancellor John Cater said: "Good pitch construction requires solid foundations, good drainage and quality materials, which is why we have chosen a highly reputable local company to carry out the project.

"J Mallinson in Ormskirk are renowned for their high profile work at stadiums such as the City of Manchester Stadium, Goodison Park and Old Trafford as well as training facilities for Liverpool FC at Melwood.

"The end result will see the creation of the eastern campus and will provide space for new student learning and recreational facilities for many years to come, making it a campus that truly matches, in both quality and scale, the best in the UK."

Facilities will include running tracks, soccer, rugby and athletics fields, netball and tennis courts and a trim trail with exercise stations. In time, a single–storey building will accommodate an eight–court sports hall with viewing gallery for basketball, netball, badminton, five–a–side football and general sports use, a 25–metre swimming pool, a 100–station fitness suite, aerobics studio, health suite with sauna and steam rooms, a café and lounge area.

The outdoor sports complex will be completed next year, ready for the 2013/14 intake and community use from next Autumn.

Parish council impresses at top awards ceremony

Report by Henry James

Cllr Norman Jenkinson, Cllr Owen Connolly, Mr Gordon Johnson (National Association of Local Councils), Cllr Andrew Johnson and Cllr Dianne Cull. Code NA

DOWNHOLLAND Parish Council has received the Quality Parish Council award in a ceremony at County Hall in Preston.

The presentation was made on Saturday, November 10 by Gordon Johnson who is chairman of the accreditation panel of the National Association of local councils.

Mr Johnson commented that the submission by Downholland Parish Council had been particularly impressive and he was delighted to be able to present the award.

Owen Connolly, chairman of the Parish Council, commented: "I am proud and delighted that all the hard work of our clerk and my fellow councillors, past and present, has been acknowledged in this prestigious award.

"I look forward to Downholland Parish Council continuing to serve the local community of Haskayne and Downholland to the best of all our abilities."

In order to achieve Quality Status, parish and town councils must demonstrate that they have reached the standard required by passing several tests.

These are: having an electoral mandate; the clerk must be qualified; council meetings must be conducted to agreed standards and there must be evidence of communication and community engagement.

The council must also produce an annual report; accounts must be properly prepared and subject to strict external auditing; there must be adoption of and observance of an agreed code of conduct by all councillors.

Finally the council must promote local democracy and citizenship and councillors and the clerk must be willing and able to undertake relevant training. At present four of the 19 parish councils in West Lancashire have achieved Quality Status.

Dragon's Den hot shot to visit college campus

Report by Henry James

DRAGON'S Den contestant Kirsty Henshaw is among the guest speakers at a free Business Network Event at West Lancashire college's campus in Skelmersdale.

The managing director of Skelmersdale's IT Managed Services, Phil Taylor, will also be speaking at the event tomorrow (Thursday, November 29).

Kirsty became one of the youngest entrepreneurs to receive investment from the Dragons' Den stars Peter Jones and Duncan Bannatyne.

After being on the show, Kirsty, who used to be a barmaid, was given £65,000 from the Dragons, and they asked for a 30% share of her allergen–free frozen dessert firm. She has since signed a £2m deal with Sainsbury's to provide a ready–meal range to the supermarket.

Those who attend will also be able to look at the new £42.8m college campus, and learn how Apprenticeships can help businesses. People will also be able to find out if they are eligible for the new Government AGE Grant.

Free refreshments and networking are available following the event. There is opportunity for 20 businesses to exhibit too.

Schools must Love Ormskirk

THE organisers of a competition to bring a little festive cheer into Ormskirk this Christmas say they have received a good response from the borough's schools.

Love Ormskirk, a group of traders and campaigners who are working together to breathe new life into the market town, launched a competition earlier this month for youngsters at schools across West Lancashire and in Maghull, and said they had received a positive response already from schools in Lathom, Skelmersdale, Ormskirk, Burscough and Maghull among others.

Callum Sibley, competition organiser, said: "Love Ormskirk is organising the competition for students in infant, primary and secondary schools throughout West Lancashire to design, construct and display Christmas Wreaths in Ormskirk town centre over the Christmas period."

To take part email hello@loveormskirk.com. The deadline is December 7.

Booths 'committed to Burscough store plans'

Report by David Simister

BOOTHS has told The Champion it is "100% committed" to its plans to build a new supermarket in Burscough amid speculation it had pulled out of the scheme.

Earlier this week there was incorrect speculation in one local 'media' outlet that the Lancashire supermarket firm had pulled out of its plans to build a new supermarket on land near Pippin Street, but the company has since moved to quash the rumours and that rival chain Asda had taken over the project.

Graham Booth, the company's project director, told The Champion: "I can confirm that Booths have not pulled out of this site and remain 100% committed to it. We must point out that we are a contracted tenant in the scheme and therefore not in control of the development. The process has certainly taken longer than we, and indeed all parties, had hoped but we expect to be in a position to confirm the date when the developer will be starting on site in the next few weeks.

"I understand that due to the lack of any visible signs of activity, people have assumed that nothing is happening. I can assure you that there has been, and continues to be a considerable amount of activity behind the scenes."

The company, which gained planning permission for the scheme from West Lancashire Borough Council's planning committee for the second time last year after years of delays to the project, said it remained "very excited" about the opportunity to build a new supermarket in West Lancashire.

Alongside the new supermarket, the plans for the Pippin Street site would also include four non–food retail units, a car showrooom and workshop, a restaurant, ambulance station and an accompanying security lodge. The scheme was originally given the thumbs up by councillors in 2010, but was referred back to the planning committee after documents relating to the original planning application were incorrect.

The Burscough site would be the company's second supermarket in West Lancashire.

Breathe Easy group honoured at ceremony

West Lancashire and Southport Breathe Easy with their award.

A GROUP which provides support to Southport and West Lancashire residents living with respiratory problems has been honoured at a regional awards ceremony.

Members of West Lancashire and Southport Breathe Easy said this week they were delighted to pick up a prize at the British Lung Foundation's Breath of Fresh Air Awards, where they were named North West Regional Winner for Outstanding Service over 10 years.

Group member Trisha Ireland told The Champion: "We are delighted to have received this award, coinciding as it does with our 11th anniversary since our group's formation.

"Local Breathe Easy Groups exist to give information, help and support to people with Respiratory illness, and their friends, families and carers."

The West Lancashire and Southport Group meets at the Guide HQ in Green Lane, Ormskirk, on the third Monday of each month, starting at 11.15 am. The group next meet on January 21.

Christmas market shopping boost

Report by David Simister

Continental Market stalls in Moor Street, Ormskirk

EXTRA market days are being laid on in Ormskirk to help any West Lancashire residents needing a little inspiration with their Christmas shopping.

The borough council said this week that while the town's traditional Thursday and Saturday market days will continue as usual throughout the festive period, there will also be three additional market days in the run up to Christmas, with more than 100 stalls to offer shoppers the chance to pick up something a bit different for a present.

The local authority said it has teamed up with the Love Ormskirk campaign to bring a bit of Christmas cheer into the town, with the traders and residents' group laying on additional attractions, including an ice rink and a continental market.

Katie Givens, team leader of Love Ormskirk, said: "Love Ormskirk is all about making Ormskirk more appealing so that people feel excited about their town again and consequently visit regularly.

"Our Christmas plan is to offer a magical experience to visitors of Ormskirk and encouraging businesses to work together and give the people what they want such as late night openings, promotions and discounts."

The additional markets will be held on Tuesday, December 18 and Friday, December 21, while another market will be open until 2pm on Christmas Eve.

Local food and drink establishments will be selling their wares at the Love Ormskirk Food Stall. This will be by the Clock Tower between 11am and 5pm Sunday, December 9, and Sunday, December 16.

It will also be open for business between 11am and 7pm on Monday, December 10 and Tuesday, December 11, and and the following Monday and Tuesday.

Shoppers are also being given another early Christmas present – from Monday, December 10 they can save money when using the council's car parks, wth visitors who buy a pay and display ticket receiving an additional two hours free parking.

This special offer applies to all pay and display car parks except Two Saints Retail Park, where an hour's free parking applies all year round.

Motorists should note that the two extra free hours will not be shown on the pay and display parking ticket purchased from the machine.

So, for example, if you buy a ticket at 10am for one hour's parking the ticket will still show an expiry time of 11am. But, during the special offer period, you will be able to park until 1pm.

The town's ice rink will be open on Moor Street between 11am and 5pm on Sunday 9 December and Sunday 16th, and 11am and 7pm on Monday December 10, Tuesday 11th and Monday December 17 and Tuesday 18th.

Tickets are being sold at Pandora's Box, Premier Sports, O2, Vanilla, The Bicycle Lounge and the Love Ormskirk gazebo, which will be situated at the Clock Tower from December 7.

Residents can look forward to an estate to be proud of

Following the council's consultation with the residents of Firbeck and Findon estate, Skelmersdale in the month of June this year, the final report on the consultation highlighted many areas for improvement.

The tenants and residents highlighted the areas they would like to see improved with regard to property improvements and great improvements to the estate.

It is unfortunate that all council three storey flats were recognised in the consultation as not an enhancement to the area.

Therefore all three storey flats will be demolished, and tenants of those properties will be rehoused. All houses and Firbeck Court are saved from demolition. In fact, Firbeck Court is undergoing a work programme of external insulation which is hoped will be finished by December 15. This will greatly improve the warmth of these properties.

The council has taken all the views of the residents very seriously, and continue to communicate with us in relation to improvements in the area.

All houses will also receive energy efficiency improvements and local tenants will benefit from the new kitchen and bathroom programmes.

Following on these improvements the area will benefit from new paths, lighting, and a new road.

The tenants and residents look forward to all these benefits and would like to thank the consultants DPA Management, who initially worked with them to ascertain all views that are considered necessary for our estate.

This work will last for possibly three to four years, and we all look forward to a modern estate which we can be very proud of.

Hazel Scully and Sandra Porter, Firbeck and Findon Campaign group.

We want Ormskirk to stay a market town

How much more damage can Ormskirk Council do to Ormskirk.

I have read in the Champion that the Indoor Market is to be replaced with student accommodation

I have also heard that the bar next door is also required for student accommodation with shops below – how does that work?

They can't rent the shops we have in the town now. How on earth can any more empty shops help the town – oh sorry, you obviously have more charity shops in mind.

The whole of Ormskirk will be student accommodation if this council has its way.

Why don't the councillors in Ormskirk take stock and realize they are wrecking our town.

They all beg for votes but I am at a loss to understand what they are actually doing for residents of Ormskirk.

The Brookside apartments are an absolute eyesore. How planning permission was granted to build such an ugly building in the middle of Ormskirk is beyond me. It is definitely not in keeping with the town.

Surely even our council can see that.

We would like Ormskirk to remain a market town.

Sorry if you don't understand the message. Obviously it is very difficult to understand because it doesn't matter how loud we shout, you ignore us.

We have empty shops and the walking area through the town centre is appalling.

When the paving was put through the centre it was very poor quality. Compare it to other town centres and our Council hasn't really cared how the centre looks. When you think of the beautiful cobbled streets they took up to create an eyesore it is heart–breaking.

Our council seems only interested in 'student accommodation'.

It is time they took stock and realized the damage they are causing.

I do realize that things can't always remain the same, we have to move on but surely somebody should take responsibility for the outcome of decisions that are made.

Shocked by inconsiderate drivers on borough's roads

As a new resident to Ormskirk I would like to say how shocked I am about the number of inconsiderate drivers there are around the town.

I have a one year old child and, due to the fact people insist on parking their cars half up on the pavement and therefore making it impossible for a pedestrian to pass, I am finding myself having to walk down the centre of the road with the pram facing oncoming traffic.

And it's not just one or two cars parked like this. On a normal walk I'll find four or five.

And I'm also shocked at how many cars drive past you when you're stood waiting to cross at the zebra crossing outside St Anne's Primary School, completely oblivious to your presence.

It'd be nice if drivers could be more aware and show some consideration to us pedestrians.

Kate Lockley, Ormskirk

Thanks to kind meter maids

I am writing on behalf of my elderly parents and our family to thank those people at Ormskirk bus station who very ably cared for my mother and for their kindness following her recent collapse at the bus station.

This event happened on October 18.

Unfortunately we have no specific names but my father has asked that I mention in particular the two 'meter maids' one of whom gave my mother her coat as she was sat on a cold floor and obtained a drink for her. The other meter maid used her cardigan as a pillow. We would also like to thank the two paramedics who attended on the day.

The good news is that my mother has made an excellent recovery and the scar from her stitches is fading daily (thanks to the seamstress at Ormskirk Minor Injuries!)

This event has brought to our attention how important this resource is to the local people and although an A&E department would be great let us pray we do not lose this.

Once again many thanks to those who helped you will never know how much your compassion means to us.

May God Bless you all.

Celebrate with Community Choir

RESOUND Community Choir will be performing a musical evening at 8pm on Thursday, December 20 when they hold their annual 'Celebrate!' event.

Organisers of the evening are promising a mix of the best of Christmas music, from sacred to secular, including carols for the audience to sing along with.

Over the past five years the event has been at various churches in the area, always in aid of a local charity.

This year it will take place in St Anne's Catholic Church, Ormskirk, in aid of the Birchwood Centre in Skelmersdale.

Musical director Sarah Monteith of the West Lancashire choir explained: "This is the event the choir most look forward to. Coming so close to Christmas it always creates a beautiful atmosphere, leaving everyone feeling full of festive cheer."

This year the choir are delighted to welcome guests Ormskirk Ukulele Band, who will be joining them on stage.

If you would like to join ReSound Community Choir for an evening singing carols, log onto the choir's website at resoundchoir.com.

'We're cross country champions!'

A GROUP of girls from Halsall St Cuthbert's CE Primary School are West Lancashire Cross Country champions.

At the end of October, schools across West Lancashire took part in a composite relay, where children work as a team to run a cross country course, and Halsall St Cuthbert's won the whole event.

Eleanor Crane, year 4/5 class teacher and PE co–ordinator at Halsall St Cuthbert's said children of the small school trained really hard for this event.

Burglars take Rolex in Aughton jewellery raid

THOUSANDS of pounds worth of jewellery was taken from a home in Aughton during a burglary.

Lancashire Constabulary said that raiders smashed their way through the upstairs balcony door of a home on Butchers Lane at around 8.15pm on Saturday night (November 3), and searched the bedrooms of the property.

The burglars took a gold Rolex watch with a diamond encrusted face, worth £5,000, a yellow gold ring encrusted with four diamonds, worth £2,000, and £600 in cash. They also took an Apple iPad tablet, worth £250.

If you have any information about this incident contact Lancashire Constabulary on 101 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

The Southport Cruisers will be riding their motorbikes on a festive charity run. Code NA

Riders to bring Christmas cheer

A GROUP of bikers will be donning their helmets to bring a bit of Christmas cheer to youngsters at a children's home in Formby next month.

Members of Southport Cruisers will be taking part in their annual Christmas Charity Run on Sunday, December 9, when they will be riding from their usual meeting point at the Ring 'o' Bells pub in Lathom to the Clumber Lodge Children's Home in Formby, where they will be delivering sweets and goodies for the young residents there.

Group spokesperson Rob Myall said: "Chocolate and sweets never fail to put a smile on the children's faces, and a collection will also be made on the day to enable them to have a proper day out.

"Anyone on a motorcycle, scooter or trike wishing to join in would be more than welcome, and refreshments will be served on the return to the Ring 'o' Bells pub."

The convoy of riders will set off from the Ring 'o' Bells at 11am on Sunday, December 9. For more information on the run search for the Southport Cruisers on Facebook.

Am I getting old?

I FIRST thought about getting old on my 30th birthday. I don't know why, I just did.

And I haven't really thought about it that much since. In fact, the only time it really has impinged itself on me was when I got my 'bus pass' – and that was a positive thought. Good–oh I thought. I can get on the buses (and happily on Merseyside, trains too) for free.

All that kind of changed in the last couple of days though. By the time you read this, I will have celebrated another annual milestone in my existence, though I doubt I'll be feeling more than a single day older than the day before, if you get my drift.

But over the course of just two days, just before my birthday, two separate people seemed to have joined forces to hammer home my mortality.

First off, I was enjoying a quiet hour or two in a local hostelry with my brother and two friends. George, my bro, said it would perhaps be a good idea to spend Christmas afloat on our boat in Norfolk: "Sooner rather than later, before we get too old to do it."

Up 'till then, I'd never even given this aspect of things any thought whatever – and it was a thought I didn't like.

I mean – there really aren't that many things I cannot do now that I could 36 or so years ago when I first thought about getting old.

I mean, I realise I couldn't run around a football pitch for 90 minutes – but whether I ever could might be open to question, and in any case I have rarely felt the urge so to do. More practically, I know I can still make a quick dash for a bus or set out without pause for thought on a five–mile walk with Tina (my eponymous dog).

Incidentally, the various aches and pains I do suffer from, I put down to rheumatism. When I was a kid, all 'old' folk had rheumatics – now no–one seems to; everyone and his dog (but not Tina) has arthritis. Since I have never visited my small aches on a doctor, I'll be awkward and stick to rheumatism.

Anyway, I'd just about stopped thinking about getting too old, ever, to celebrate Christmas on the boat, when I had a conversation with a bloke I've known for some time and always regarded as just another man (and no insult intended) – not particularly young is what I mean.

I told him I had to keep our talk fairly short because I had to nip home, have my evening meal, and be out of the house again quick–sticks to talk to someone from the Maghull Community Association about a possible mini–feature on the work the MCA does in the community.

And I mentioned that my association with the MCA goes well back – as it does. I said I remembered going along to a local pub for an initial meeting of people thinking of forming this now well–known Maghull club as a young reporter.

Actually I remember the evening very well indeed because one of the blokes there had recently won a Gold Medal for his home–brew at the Liverpool Show and we retired later to his house to try it for ourselves. I think it was very good (good enough to dim my memory of going home anyway!).

I was trying to recall exactly when that must have been and reckoned it was probably around 1965/6.

And this so–called friend said happily: "I wouldn't know. I wasn't even born then."

I mean – here was a chap I've known and talked to for quite some time, who is so young he wasn't even born when I was roughly a third of the age I am now!

Now that IS frightening.

Residents consulted on the council's housing strategy

Report by David Simister

PEOPLE are being invited to share their views on how the borough can meet the challenges of providing housing across the borough in years to come.

The borough council said it is launching a consultation on how it should meet the challenges posed by offering homes right across West Lancashire, as it prepares to draw up a document outlining its priorities and targets for its housing strategy.

Councillor Adrian Owens, the local authority's portfolio holder for housing finance, regeneration and estates, said: "Housing is essential for underpinning the quality of people's lives and supporting economic growth which is why housing issues need to be addressed at a local level but in a planned and strategic way.

"The housing strategy is separate from, but linked to, the Local Plan in that the Local Plan is a planning document setting out the strategic priorities for development of an area and covering housing, commercial, public and private development, including transport infrastructure, along with protection for the local environment. This housing strategy is intended to provide an action plan and policy direction to address the specific housing challenges and issues in the borough."

The local authority added that the consultation is the public's chance to have their say on any issues relating to housing supply and demand and to share their views on what the council's priorities on the issue should be.

Councillor Val Hopley, the council's portfolio holder for landlord services and human resources, added: "We would encourage members of our communities to get involved and share their views.

"Once a draft housing strategy has been developed then there will also be a consultation period for further comments and contributions to be made."

Anyone wishing to take part in the consultation is being urged to complete a short online questionnaire that can be found at www.westlancshousingstrategy.co.uk. Alternatively, you can get a hard copy of the questionnaire in the post to complete by contacting arc4, housing consultants (who are assisting in the development of the new housing strategy) by calling the Freephone number 0800 612 9133. The closing date for the consultation is December 14.

...future of housing in borough to be discussed

Report by David Simister

RESIDENTS are being invited to share their views on how the borough can meet demand for housing in years to come at a debate next week.

A discussion is being hosted by the West Lancashire Conservative Association's Disraeli Club on one of the borough's hot topics, which will take place at Briars Hall in Lathom next Tuesday (December 4).

Association deputy chairman (Political), Councillor Graham Jones, said: "I am pleased we have managed to secure an excellent panel for this important debate.

"I would urge all those interested in attending to book a place as soon as possible. Numbers are strictly limited and allocated on a first come, first served basis."

The event, which will feature a panel discussion and a chance for the audience to ask questions, will feature Derek Long, head of the North for the National Housing Federation, Councillor Mike Jones, chairman of the Local Government Association's Environment and Housing Board, and Councillor Adrian Owens, West Lancashire's portfolio holder for housing.

To book a place at the 7.30pm event, contact 01695 572306.

The Christmas Decorators

Christmas can be a very special time for sharing memories and thinking of those close to us. Once again, this year, Jospice invites you to join in remembering loved ones and absent friends by sponsoring a light on our Christmas tree.

The Light up a Life tree speaks to people in different ways, helping to remind us of family and friends who have helped light up our lives. The lights shining together suggest people bringing light and love into our own homes and neighbourhood. Our Christmas tree will bear your light dedicated to someone special and will remain lit over the Christmas season. The name of your loved one will be placed in the Jospice Book of Remembrance.

Our service and lighting of the Christmas tree will be held on Sunday 9th December 2012. Carols will be sung from 4pm by Footsteps music group. This will be followed by a short candlelit service of remembrance led by Father Dunstan Harrington at 4.30pm.

You are invited to join us in the grounds here at Jospice from 3.45pm for the carols, service and refreshments. Please note the service is held outdoors, suitable clothing and footwear is advised.

Olympic captain Dai Greene who has epilepsy is supporting the awards

Nominations wanted for epilepsy charity awards

Report by Stephanie O'Connor

A CHARITY that supports young people with epilepsy is seeking nominations from West Lancashire for its first ever Champions Awards 2013.

Young Epilepsy is launching the awards to recognise the contribution made by individuals and organisations towards improving the lives of young people living with the condition.

Anyone can nominate an Epilepsy Champion and the charity is encouraging the people of West Lancashire to take part.

The 2012 Olympic captain of the Great Britain Athletics Team, Dai Greene, who has epilepsy and is backing the awards, said: "Young Epilepsy Champions Awards will recognise the outstanding contribution that many individuals and organisations from the North West make towards improving the lives of young people living with epilepsy.

"Epilepsy can have far reaching consequences, not just for the young person that has it, but also their families and carers. Everyone living with epilepsy is supported by at least one Epilepsy Champion; it may be a family member, a nurse, a doctor, a teacher or a business and they deserve our recognition and thanks."

Nominating someone for a Young Epilepsy Champion Award can be done online at youngepilepsy.org.uk/champions–awards

Champ readers reveal their best Bond film

CHAMPION readers have chosen their favourite Bond film after a competition run jointly with a community cinema in West Lancashire.

Last month, to coincide with the release of Skyfall, we teamed up with Parbold Picture House in a bid to find the region's favourite James Bond film, with the most popular suggestion being shown at the award–winning cinema.

The overwhelming favourite with readers was the 1963 film From Russia With Love, which will be screened at the community–run venue on January 6.

Other suggestions from readers included the first James Bond film, Dr No, 1981's For Your Eyes Only, starring Roger Moore, and Timothy Dalton's 1987 debut in The Living Daylights, but it was the second film in the long–running franchise which proved most popular with Champion readers.

Two of the entrants in the competition, Angela Fairclough from Crosby and Andrew Kay from Mawdesley, have also won a pair of tickets each for the screening.

• From Russia With Love will be shown at the cinema, inside Parbold Village Hall, from 7pm on Sunday, January 6, with tickets costing £3 each.

Champion Review

Step on up for a roller coaster ride of fun...

Review by Ron Ellis

- The 39 Steps
- Southport Dramatic Club
- Little Theatre

NO wonder Patrick Barlow's interpretation of 'The 39 Steps' has been running for six years in the West End for it is a roller coaster ride of fun from start to finish.

Stephen Hughes–Alty and John Delahunty, the Laurel and Hardy of the SDC, were superb as the two clowns playing 130 parts between them and couldn't have worked harder as they changed roles, voices, costumes and sets by the minute whilst a portly Adrian Roberts, complete with a bushy moustache, played the part of the upper–crust Englishman, Richard Hannay, to perfection.

Totally convincing in her Beth Milligan started off as seductive foreign spy, Annabella Schmidt, then became Margaret, a downtrodden Scottish landlady, and ended up in Hannay's arms as Pamela, looking the image of Marilyn Monroe.

The timing was spot on except when it deliberately went wrong, as when the phone continued ringing after it was answered or the gun fired several seconds after the trigger was pressed, both of which had the audience in stitches.

The music was carefully chosen to match the plot so for the train ride we got 'Coronation Scot' (remember Paul Temple?), the signature tune, 'Startime' for the London Palladium scenes, bagpipes over the border and a wonderful snatch of 'Roses of Picardy' by Stephen Hughes–Alty that would have John McCormack turning in his grave.

SDC performed The 39 Steps. ©Fletcherhill Photography. Code NA

The plot remained pretty true to the original John Buchan novel with Hannay being chased across Scotland by police and spies and ending up with Mr Memory at the London Palladium and a hilarious scene where he wrestles with a dummy that a minute ago was a person.

The show was very reminiscent of the 'Dick Barton' play the company put on in 2011 and, like that, owed a lot of its style to The Goon Shows.

One of the best plays for a long time and every credit to director, James Hughes–Alty, for managing to organise 33 scenes at non–stop pace, co–ordinating the music and sound effects and never once descending into chaos.

Star rating: 8 out of 10. An exhilarating evening.

Where have all the Hot Hot Pies gone?

Why are my pies and pasties not always as hot as they used to be?

In the last budget, the Chancellor tried to put 20% VAT on hot pies and savouries – known as the "Pasty Tax"
Due to public outcry this was repealed and the Government backed down and stated that if pies and savouries were hot because they were straight from the oven then no VAT was chargeable.

But as of 1st October 2012 several objective tests have been added to the rulings:

VAT is to be charged when :

- it has been heated for the purpose of enabling it to be consumed hot.
- it has been heated to order
- it has been kept hot after being cooked
- it is provided to the customer in a package that retains heat
- the food is advertised as "hot"

As you can see, we, as bakers had only one choice if our savouries were not to attract 20% VAT and that was to bake our savouries on demand and keep them in unheated display cabinets.

Unfortunately if they are not sold immediately then they cool quickly, especially as the weather gets colder.

Like practically all the bakers in the area, this is what we have been doing – but our customers have started to complain – they want to come and buy HOT pies at any time throughout the day rather than WARM pies whether it is 8.30am or 3.00pm, so we decided to have a poll and let our customers decide.

Faced with a choice:

- hot pies all day +20%VAT or
- pies straight from the oven (that will not be kept hot) and no VAT

Our poll showed the majority of our customers would pay the extra 20%VAT to have their pies hot.

So we have decided at C.H.Latham that as of 26th November 2012 we will meet our customers' demands but will only charge an extra 10% VAT on our hot pies and savouries.

The other 10% we will absorb ourselves as we realise in the current economic climate an increase of 20% is a lot extra for customers to pay.

So from now on all our Hot Pies and Savouries are available HOT throughout the day.

Cold pies still do not attract 20%VAT.

The youngsters from Kelly Shirley School of Dance Code NA

Jiving them crazy!

Report by Henry James

AFTER sweeping the board at an Ormskirk competition two weeks ago, dancers from Burscough's Kelly Shirley School of Dance, have had major success at a prestigious Liverpool Dance competition.

A total of 41 of the schools dancers returned to the Northwest Dance Challenge 2012 at the Liverpool Empire on Sunday, November 15 to defend their title of Northwest Dance Challenge Cabaret Champions 2011.

They walked away not only with their title intact, but also added the Open Classical title to their credits, with three first places and three trophies across the competition.

Dancers competed in the 16 years and under Cabaret Section with their routine 'Jive Me Crazy', which took the first award of the night, closely followed by a first place for 'Reflections' in the Open Cabaret section and then 'Titanium' took first place in the Open Classical section.

School Principal Kelly Tobin said: "I would like to say a massive congratulations to all my amazing students for completing 'the hat trick' at the Liverpool Empire. They were delighted to have been awarded the 'triple' and enjoyed every minute of their performances at the Liverpool Empire.

"The standard of this competition was extremely high this year so to retain our position as winners was an exceptional feat; to walk away with one winners title, let alone three, is incredible. I think we may be needing more shelf space for the three enormous trophies."

Event organiser Sharon Collins of Smile Productions added: "Congratulations to all the dancers, very well deserved wins!"

Judging the event were Liverpool's Danielle Wheeler from the musical '42nd Street'; Deana Difrancescantonio, dance professional and teacher; Natalie Dignam, currently touring with 'Grease The Musical' and Marcquelle Jermaine Ward, a street dancer with many championship titles and TV credits to his name.

Fundraisers march across West Lancs!

A GROUP of kindhearted fundraisers will be walking right across West Lancashire this weekend to help raise funds to help those battling with cancer.

Friends and relatives of Keith Hankinson, who is currently being treated for cancer at Southport Hospital, will walk from the resort to the Stanley pub in Up Holland this Saturday (December 1) – with some of the group donning all–in–one baby suits for the duration of the journey.

Amy Hankinson, Keith's daughter, said: "The nurses and staff at the new chemotherapy day ward in Southport Hospital are special, they talk to you and help you overcome this horrible disease on a daily basis.

"They make this horrible situation seem better than it is in the way they deal with you."

The ten–strong group will set off from Up Holland early on Saturday morning, using free bus tickets provided by Arriva, and expect to set off from Southport Hospital at around 8.30am, reaching Ormskirk by lunchtime and arriving in Up Holland at the Stanley Pub later that afternoon.

All funds raised by the event will go towards supporting cancer care and treatment at the new chemotherapy ward at Southport Hospital.

• If you would like to sponsor the group and help make their walk a success contact either Amy Hankinson on 07880 351604 or Aaron Martin on 07402 905449.

Aughton's got talent!

A TALENT contest to find the cream of Aughton's musical and theatrical talent has helped to raise hundreds of pounds for charity.

The organisers of the Aughton's Got Talent competition, held last month, said this week that they had raised more than £800 for two charities when youngsters showed off their skills at the village hall.

Dr David Gallagher, one of the contest's organisers, said: "We raised £450 for Macmillan Cancer Research matched to make £900 by Barclaycard.

"Barclaycard will double the £407.50 to make £815.00 for Help for Heroes plus the £14 from the coffee morning which makes £829 for them."

The cheques were presented at a series of coffee mornings following the contest, where representatives of the two charities met with Dr Gallagher and supporters of the event.

An outstanding achievement medal has also been presented to Jenny Lee for her vocal performance of O mio babbino Caro (Puccini) and Ave Maria (Caccini). First place medals for young contestants were presented to Group B which consisted of Kiera McDonough, on vocals, guitarist Joe Peacock, Ben Peacock and Charlotte Gornall, and Aaron Ormesher for his performance of Eddie Cochran's Summertime Blues.

Although the contest, modelled on the hit ITV show Britain's Got Talent, took place at Aughton Village Hall, the contest attracted entrants from across West Lancashire.

Kids net funds from SCA Hygiene

Report by Henry James

YOUNG Skelmersdale footballers have netted funds from SCA Hygiene Products to purchase new equipment.

The Inter Skem Under–12s side has received £200 from the Skelmersdale–based company's community fund to buy new balls for their matches and training sessions.

The donation came through the request of SCA employee Paul Nesbitt, whose son Jake plays for the team in the Skelmersdale Junior Football League.

SCA's paper mill on Pimbo Road, produces paper tissues, and site manager Mark Mannering attended the side's training session to present the equipment.

He commented: "The adult volunteers behind the Inter Skem side are doing a great job in encouraging the young players and we hope our support will give the boys an extra boost to do well this season."

A committee of parents run the side and organise fundraising activities.

Team manager Tony Roughley added: "Buying kit and equipment such as footballs can get very expensive and this money from SCA is really helpful to us."

LFC fun day competition winners drawn

FIVE lucky Champion readers are in for a festively fun–packed day out at Liverpool Football Club next month, after winning our competition.

Ms P. Bowden of Waterloo, Mrs Mary Moriarty of Bootle, Connagh Murphy of Skelmersdale, Adam Nelson from Maghull, and Catherine Aitchison from Maghull all won a family pass for the December 16 event at the Anfield stadium.

Chapel Gallery aims to please culture vultures

IT MIGHT not even be Christmas yet an art gallery is already working on making 2013 a year for West Lancashire culture vultures to look forward to.

West Lancashire Borough Council, which runs the Chapel Gallery in Ormskirk, said it has just launched its programme of exhibitions, activities and events for the new year, starting with the return of one of the venue's more popular draws.

Councillor David Sudworth, West Lancashire Borough Council's portfolio holder for Leisure said: "Art is for everyone to enjoy and I always think the gallery does a wonderful job of curating exhibitions and events that provide something for all tastes and accommodate all levels of interest.

"If you have never visited the gallery it is well worth giving it a second thought as this line up for 2013 is truly inspiring."

The fun starts with the Youth Open 2012, a showcase of art from young people across the borough, which is already open and has attracted a host of entries. This year's exhibition, which uses People & Places as its theme, will be open at the gallery until January 5.

Among the other attractions set for next year are Making It 2 and the West Lancashire Open Exhibition 2013. Making It, scheduled for 16 March – 27 April 2013, is an exhibition that includes three artists in residence at the Chapel Gallery, and throughout the show visitors are able to witness the artists produce their work as it evolves from initial concept to final piece. Meanwhile, the Open Exhibition takes place between July 20 and September 14, and artists from West Lancashire will be encouraged to take part.

For a full programme for 2013 contact the gallery on 01695 571328 or visit www.chapelgallery.org.uk

Businesses warned after websites are hacked

POLICE are warning businesses to ensure their online security is up to date after hackers tried to steal thousands of pounds of goods.

The two businesses discovered hackers had changed the online value of their goods to 1p before trying to buy the items – which included £2,000 of furniture – with a stolen credit card. On both occasions, the companies spotted the scam and prevented any losses.

Police launched an investigation after receiving a call from Action Fraud.

Detective Constable Tony McClements, of Lancashire Constabulary's economic crime unit, said: "I urge all businesses to make sure their IT security systems are updated."

Packed line–up set for winter jazz weekend

Report by Natasha Young

JAZZ fans will be treated to a packed programme of 11 Southport concerts, when the 'Jazz on a Winter's Weekend' festival returns to the town.

The three–day event, taking place from February 1–3 at The Royal Clifton Hotel, will host a range of performances from the cutting edge to the soothingly smooth.

The popular event has been a sell out for the last four years and organisers are hoping the 2013 festivities will be just as successful.

Young London trumpeter Laura Jurd's band will be the opener on the Friday, and northern jazz performers Iain Dixon, on saxes, and world class guitarist Mike Walker will bring the event to a close on the Sunday night.

Other acts helping to lighten the post Christmas blues during the festival include trumpeter Jim Rotondi's organ quartet and tenor sax star Eric Alexander from USA, along with New York's Walter Smith 111's band with guitarist Matthew Stevens.

Saxophonist Marius Neset will perform at the festival. Code NA

Norwegian saxophonist Marius Neset will also bring his mixed UK–Scandinavian foursome and, from the sunshine of Italy, world class pianist Dado Moroni's trio will be playing with top UK trombonist Mark Nightingale.

Big band fans can get their highs from Steve Waterman's all–star outfit and The Royal Northern College of Music's Big Band with guest Mark Bassey.

Meanwhile lovers of vocal jazz will be able to enjoy a performance by rising UK star Zara McFarlane, with Australia's jazz jewel Trudy Kerr and the one and only Anita Wardell. Anita joins Alan Barnes's band in a tribute to the music of American song writer Johnny Mandel, with especially commissioned arrangements by Alan.

And the entertainment won't stop between concerts as a host of fringe performers are also lined up to play, along with jazz art and photography exhibitions and the Jazz Shop for recorded music and trade exhibitors.

Throughout the weekend there will be a supply of real ale, and BBC Radio 3 will be recording some of the gigs for their 'Jazz Line Up' programme.

For a free festival programme or to book tickets, call 01704 541790 (weekender tickets £130, day tickets £43–£59 and individual gig tickets £14–£22).

More information about the music is available by logging on to www.jazzinsouthport.co.uk.

Waterloo and Crosby Theatre Company will perform Cinderella.

Cinderella to hit Sefton stage

OH no it isn't! Oh yes it is! It's panto time again and the Waterloo and Crosby Theatre Company is back with its 31st annual festive production – Cinderella.

More than 30 adults and children, with dancers from Laura Elizabeth Dance Studios, will star in the show at The Civic during the run up to Christmas.

Written by Roy Hartley and directed by Pamela Foy, this year's panto once again promises traditional family fun.

Choreographer Laura Birch will also take on the role of Prince Charming and, in the title role, the company welcomes back Alexandra Appleton, who has played many previous principal roles.

The ugly sisters, Biggeta and Grimma, will be played by Les Longley and Darren Hilton, with comic actress Elspeth Fisher as their mother, the Baroness.

Long–standing youth member, David Johnson will take his first leading role as Buttons.

Orchestra to perform their autumn concert

CLASSICAL music lovers are being invited to Southport Orchestra's autumn concert.

The programme will open with the Academic Festival Overture Opus 80 by Johannes Brahms.

The dramatic Cello Concerto by Antonin Dvorak, Opus 104 will be the central work of the concert featuring the soloist Gregor Cuff.

The evening will also include Irving Berlin's White Christmas Selection, Troika by Serge Prokofieff Opus 60 from his Symphonic Suite 'Lieutenant Kije' and the short but haunting Waltz from the Incidental Music to Lermontov's Play, Masquerade by Aram Khachaturian, and concluding with Leroy Anderson's Sleigh Ride.

The Southport Orchestra, with leader Lesley Mycock, will perform the concert under the baton of its musical director, Jeff Rimmer.

The venue for the concert is St Luke's Church, on St. Luke's Road, Southport and it will start at 7.30pm on Saturday, December 8.

Admission is £7 for adults and £4 for under 18s.

Tickets are available from members of the orchestra, as well as Southport Christian Book Centre on Wesley Street, Southport. They are available from Penny on 01772 613099 or at the door.

Members of the Southport Orchestra rehearse regularly every Tuesday at Southport's Church of St. Francis of Assisi, Folkestone Road, Kew. Rehearsals are held between 8pm and 10pm with a brief break for a chat and to enjoy a welcome cup of tea midway.

Anyone interested should call Tessa on 01704 560363, or Jeff at jeff@ffbuk.com.

Evening of jazz classics

MUSIC lovers are being invited to celebrate a century of jazz at an intimate concert in West Lancashire next week.

Douglas Music, which organises performances in Parbold, said its next event will see them host an evening of jazz favourites played by saxophonist Alan Barnes and pianist David Newton, which takes place on December 8.

A Douglas Music spokesperson said: "Alan Barnes returns to Parbold with David Newton, his long term friend from student days at Leeds College of Music, where, in 2003 both were made Fellows in recognition of their musical achievements.

"In Parbold they come together in an exploration of a hundred years of jazz, which will feature many of the jazz favourites and styles and demonstrate the wonderful versatility and musicianship of these jazz maestros."

Tickets are £12, or £5 each for young people and students. For more details visit www.parbolddouglasmusic.org or call 01257 498452 or 01257 462382.

Latin Lounge to host dixieland show

AN evening of dixieland jazz will take place at Southport's Latin Lounge venue next month, as part of the Occasional Jazz series.

Starting at 7.30pm, admission is £10 including refreshments.

• Tickets are available from Jen on 01704 229179 or Pam on 01704 539498.

Panto Traditions

The leading male juvenile character (the principal boy) is traditionally played by a young woman.

An older woman (the pantomime dame - often the hero's mother) is usually played by a man.

Audience participation is vital, including calls of He's behind you! or Look behind you! and Oh, yes it is! or Oh, no it isn't!

The audience is always encouraged to boo the villain and awwwww the poor victims, such as the rejected dame, who usually fancies the prince.

BIRTHDAY MEMORIAMS

Raymond Peter Shearin McClelland
26.11.62 - 29.01.04

Your 50th birthday has come around,
Not a word from you
or even a sound,
No cards today - you
didn't like a fuss,
But loved and remembered by all of us

Safety system to debut on Fiesta from America

Report by David Simister

A SAFETY feature fitted to Fords in the States will be arriving from across the Atlantic next month in a bid to prevent younger drivers being involved in accidents.

The MyKey system, which will be fitted as standard on most models in the Fiesta range from next month, allows parents to alter the car's settings to make it safer when their children borrow it, and includes the option to restrict the top speed, to limit how loud the stereo system is, or to disable the audio altogether if seatbelts aren't being used.

Peter Patzelt, who has overseen the system's European introduction, said: "Parents love MyKey because it helps them reduce their teenagers' exposure to risk at the wheel. Young drivers are not too keen on MyKey until they learn that it often improves the chances their parents will allow them to drive in the first place."

The system has been pioneered by Ford in North America, and is fitted as standard to almost all the new cars it sells there.

Last ever Mini to leave factory found underground in wartime tunnel but how did it get there?

Enthusiast Steve Morgan has now repaired the roof on the last ever Mini.

IT'S like Indiana Jones meets The Italian Job. This story is so intruiging, I thought it needed bringing out of the classic car forums and onto these pages.

It begins deep underground, in a network of tunnels beneath one of Britain's biggest car factories, the former British Leyland plant at Longbridge. For years, a rather battered old Mini has sat down there, lonely and unloved, gathering dust for decades.

It's been stripped of almost all of its useful bits and the roof's been bent in like a banana, but this Clubman version is quite unlike any other. The Mini which nobody wanted is the last ever Mini to leave the factory.

How did it end up down there? Well, the story goes that when this Mini was being made, it fell off the production line at the factory, and rather than repair it the Longbridge workers ran it around the factory for a few miles and took whatever bits were useful off it to use on other cars. When it was no longer deemed useful it was bundled off into the tunnel, which had been built in the 1940s to protect the factory workers – who were busy making ammunition rather than cars for a change – from the Luftwaffe.

The Clubman that never was stayed in the tunnel right through the bitterest days of British Leyland, right through Austin Rover's tenure, remained unloved when BMW took over the reins and even remained ignored when MG Rover finally went bust in 2005.

It's only now that a Mini enthusiast has had the tenacity to fish it out, and it's caused a bit of a fuore in the process. Should the crumpled old heap, which had its roof stoved in after an unfortunate encounter with a shipping container, be put back in that tunnel and left there for posterity's sake? Should it be moved to a museum somewhere? Or should the car's saviour restore the old girl back to her former glory, even though for all sorts of boring legal reasons it can't actually be used on the road? For what it's worth, I reckon it should have come out, but I can't see many museums wanting to take on an exhibit that can't even be moved on its own wheels.

It'd take many of thousands of pounds to mend it properly and keep it original, but if someone's up for the exhaustion and expense then they've got my backing. It'd be great to see one last Mini – the Mini that time forgot – rev up its little A–Series engine in anger.

It was too good to be left abandoned in a tunnel forever.

Chinese firm Qoros aims to take UK market

Report by David Simister

A CHINESE company is hoping to capture the imagination of British car buyers with a series of new models from next year.

Qoros, who will make their official European debut at the Geneva Motorshow next March, have said they will launch a new car roughly every six months, with all models engineered to gain the maximum ratings in the Euro NCAP safety tests.

A spokesperson for the company said: "Qoros is a fresh, new brand without legacy. It is driven by a passionate international team of expert designers, engineers and marketers who are united in their desire to develop sophisticated and highly individual products.

"In addition to design that is both elegant and functional, Qoros products will be distinguished by a strong focus on state–of–the–art technology, with high levels of user–friendly in–car connectivity and vehicle safety standards which compare to the best in Europe."

Tough FA Trophy test

THE draw for the Second Round Proper of The FA Carlsberg Trophy has been made at Wembley on Monday with 16 ties scheduled for December 15. Southport face a tough away fixture to Stockport County while Skelmersdale United will host Guiseley should they progress in their replay against Boston United.

Neither of last season's Trophy Finalists are in the competition, winners York City having been promoted into League 2 and runners–up Newport County losing their First Round Proper tie at Welling United on Saturday.

Forest Green Rovers, Wrexham and Dartford have been handed home draws.

The 16 winners will each receive £6,000.

Ten men Skem earn Boston cup replay

Boston United 1
Skelmersdale United 1

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

SKEM earned another go at Boston United after their trip to South–East Lincolnshire on Saturday.

This is despite playing a quarter of the game with ten men after referee Sarah Garratt made what is best described as the hasty and harsh decision to dismiss midfielder Antony Hickey for a raised boot and having grabbed the lead in the 51st minute when Skelmersdale were well on top of their opponents from two divisions above them.

West Lancashire football fans will at least get their chance to see round two of the contest at the West Lancashire College Stadium on Tuesday night, kick off 7.45pm. If it is only half as good as the match at York Street it will be a thriller.

Whether Skelmersdale manager Tommy Lawson's opening ruse of sending his team out with his defenders wearing forward numbers and forwards wearing defensive numbers (2 & 3) made much difference to the game is debateable but after around twenty minutes his team started to pose a real threat to the hosts.

In the 24th minute Lewis Field won a corner from a buccaneering run down the right, from the kick Rob McIntosh saw his goalbound header cleared off the line by home defender Tom Ward.

In the 27th minute, Burnett went close again after Mark Jackson set him up, and then Kenny Strickland had a shot saved by Boston keeper Dan Haystead.

In the 36th minute, Strickland even tried one audacious effort, attempting to chip an off his line Haystead from inside his own half, against the wind. He didn't succeed but it did show Skelmersdale's confidence and that what followed later was no fluke.

The second–half started with Skelmersdale strongly on the offensive, a couple of minutes in Jackson went near with a header then the big opportunity arrived in the 51st minute. After a move down the right Jackson had a shot scrambled off the line, the ball was hooked clear to Skelmersdale's left, Paul Woolcott played it to Strickland and "Crafty Kenny" saw the keeper slightly off his line again and this time he dropped the ball over Haystead into the far side of the goal.

Woolcott was pushed off a loose ball by James Reed, who slotted it through for substitute Spencer Weir–Daley, who blasted past an exposed Ashton for the equaliser.

In the 67th minute Skelmersdale got an unlucky break. From a throw–in the ball dropped over Hickey's head on the halfway line, he turned to cushion the ball down and collided with Newsham, his foot was raised but it was very unlikely to cause damage. However, arguably rather impetuously within a split second a red card was brandished and off went Hickey, a very unlucky player indeed.

Tommy Lawson was forced to change things, he brought on Adam Morning and Aaron Turner leaving Burnett up front on his own.

In added time Boston were now frantic and almost snatched the game, but Skelmersdale deserved a little luck and Ashton made a pair a reaction saves to deny Ian Ross and Nathan Stainfield. It would have been a sad injustice had Boston been let off the hook they will not relish the trip Lancashire on Tuesday.

Skelmersdale United 3
Salford City 2

WITH less than twenty minutes left on the clock at the West Lancashire College Stadium, it looked like game up for Skelmersdale United's unbeaten start to the season, the obituaries were being planned they were 2–0 down and seemingly not looking likely to rescue the situation.

But the scribes should know better, especially if they have seen all Skelmersdale's matches this season. Manager Tommy Lawson made three substitutions in the 69th minute and within eleven minutes, they went from down and out to celebrating a sensational victory.

One Skelmersdale supporter summed it up well on the club forum: "It was like the cavalry had come over the hill."

Dismal day at the office for Linnets

Burscough 0
New Mills 3

BURSCOUGH will rue wasteful possession and sloppy defending as they went down to a 3–0 home defeat by New Mills.

Burscough pressed and probed in the opening exchanges with some neat football but failed to convert anything into real chances.

On the stroke of half time New Mills took the lead from the penalty spot, Meakin slotting home from 12 yards.

The Linnets should have levelled moments after the restart when Clarke's perfect cross evaded the head of Cummins at the near post.

It wasn't to be, as New Mills doubled their lead through Hampson's prodded effort on 72 minutes.

Burscough could have nicked a late goal when Cummins headed against the post but instead conceded when Meakin sealed the game from the penalty spot for the second time when Williams hauled down Hampson.

Maghull on the right road to recovery

Heswall Reserves 2
Maghull Reserves 4

Report by Andy Boyd

DESPITE all the trials and tribulations that the club has had to endure over the past few months – the resignations of two successive first team managers and the mass exodus of almost the whole of last season's senior and youth team squads and staff – Maghull Football Club's determination to fight back is being rewarded by the impressive performances the reserve team is producing.

Manager Peter Nolan has built his squad around a number of experienced players who have remained loyal to the club, and added to them talented youngsters a couple of whom have resisted offers to go elsewhere.

His team turned in another such performance when they recovered brilliantly from a two goal deficit to cruise into the last four of the Howarth and Gallagher Bowl courtesy of a 4–2 victory at third in the table Heswall Reserves last Saturday.

The home team raced into a two goal lead before the interval thanks to strikes from Jay Thompson and Lee Dermody but goals from Mick McGinn, his tenth of the season, Billy Rice, his ninth, Marco Parvas and Dave Hughes sealed yet another fine win to set up a home semi final tie against either Marshalls or Mallaby on March 2 next year. This victory extends Pete Nolan's team unbeaten run to seven games. Due to scheduled opponents Newton being involved in a delayed Cheshire Cup tie the first team were without a Carlsberg West Cheshire First Division game last Saturday but they return to action next Saturday when they travel to Wallasey to face current champions Ashville in a Wirral Senior Cup match which kicks off at 2pm. The Reserves will play AFC Bebington from 2pm.

On officially opening The Imagery, Kerry commented "The Imagery is better than any high street salon spa I have ever seen, I have had a lovely afternoon with all the staff and students."

The Imagery also welcomed celebrity hairdressers Lee Stafford in March this year who delivered a professional seminar to members of the hair industry.

Facilities include a stunning and highly equipped commercial hairdressing salon; commercial nail bar; beauty treatment rooms; steam room; sauna and sports massage treatment rooms.

Open to the public all year round (including on Saturdays), The Imagery has experienced, qualified staff who offer the very best industry standard treatments at competitive prices.

Nail treatments and products start from just £5.00 and include Dashing Diva, Minx, Shellac, Acrylics and Gels, Hollywood Toes and Nail Art.

Beauty treatments and products include Crystal Clear Microdermabrasion, Sienna spray tan, Kaeso Facial, Dermalogica, IPL laser treatment, 3D Lashes and non surgical face lift and pamper packages all at competitive prices.

The commercial hair salon offers colour specialists and Wella products are used throughout. They offer the latest treatments including Envy Frizzguard, Wella deep conditioning treatments, Quasi Colour and long hair work. Prices start from just £10.00.

Sue Roberts, Salon Manager, commented "We would like to thank all of our clients for their continued business over the last year. The Imagery is a fabulous facility for the local community and we look forward to welcoming new clients over the next year."
